SENATE ENDORSES PEACE REQUEST

Refuses, However, to Approve the Whole of the President's Peace Note

Washington, Jan. 5.—Approval of President Wilson's request for a statement of peace terms from the European belligerents was voted tonight by the senate at the conclusion of three days of stirring debate. Action came with a dramatic suddenness when Democratic leaders decided to accept a form of resolution that would not commit the senate to endorsement of the whole of the President's note and 10 Republicans of the Progressive group joined the majority in making the vote 48 to 17.

Senator Martineau of New Jersey was the only Democrat to vote in the negative. Discussion of the subject had reached

SEC. LANSING WILL TESTIFY

Will Appear Before Committee on Peace Note Leak--Stock Exchange Records to Be Examined

Washington, Jan. 6.—Determined to get to the bottom of the information leak, whereby Wall street is said to have learned that President Wilson had sent a peace note to Europe, the house committee on rules today adopted a resolution to call before the committee all of the Washington correspondents of the Wall Street Journal and other New York financial journals. This action was taken at the suggestion of Representative Harrison of Mississippi.

It was decided to order before the committee John Boyle and Henry Brand of the Wall Street Journal and also the Washington bureau as well as other members of the staff of the Washington bureau, that supplies the financial news to the country.

The denial of Otto Kahn of the firm of Kahn and Lobe Company of New York that he had received advance information was received by the committee and he notified the committee that he would be here on Monday to testify.

A communication from President Noble of the New York Stock Exchange was read, in which he stated that he had ordered preserved all the stock sale records from December 10 to 23. He said that it would be necessary to get the Consolidated Stock Exchange records somewhere else as he had no authority over that body.

The committee notified Bernard Baruch of New York to appear Monday and to bring all of his stock slips and commission sales slips.

Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary to the President Tumulty have not been called before the committee, but it is understood that they desire to testify and will be given a chance to be heard.

Thomas W. Lawson of Boston will be before the committee on Monday and he is expected to be the star witness. Congressman Bennett of New York moved, and the committee voted to notify the New York stock exchange to bring to Washington all of the sales slips and brokers' commissions slips. Chairman Henry also announced that the Consolidated Stock Company had been asked to preserve all of its slips showing stock transactions from December 10 to 23.

Representative Wood was called to the stand and asked if he had located A. Curtis, the writer of the letter which connected the name of Secretary Tumulty and Bernard Baruch. He said: "I believe that some member of the house told me that Curtis was a Wall street broker, but he had not been able to locate him." He also admitted that he had not asked Mr. Curtis to come to his office after getting the letter. He said that since the hearing had started he had received many letters, some unsigned, bearing on the reported leak.

There was a sharp tilt when Con. Schepherd, a Republican member of the rules committee objected to the manner of cross questioning of Rep. Wood on the ground that Mr. Wood was the prosecuting witness and not on trial before the committee.

Congressman A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts followed Con. Wood on the stand just before the noon recess.

MARRIED HERE

French War Nurse Romance Was to Have Ended in Marriage in This City.

A dispatch from Bideford says: "Miss Jennie LePorel, a Red Cross nurse of France and Clarence Stanley, formerly of Saco who is employed by the French government will be married in Portsmouth, N. H. tomorrow. They had planned to be wedded in this city, but as Mr. Stanley who reached here at noon today, could stay in Maine only two days, and the law requires that intentions shall be filed five days before marriage, they decided to go to the New Hampshire city in the morning. Jan. 25 they will sail for France.

The romance of the couple began in a hospital in France two years ago where the bride was a Red Cross nurse.

The couple were disappointed here for the laws of this state are the same as in Maine, a five days' notice being required, except where the court grants a dispensation. Vermont is the only state in New England where the five day law is not in effect and there are several bills in the present legislature to make the law in that state the same as in other states.

The special committee appointed at the U. A. C. to make recommendations for improvements, etc., met on Friday evening.

LOCK PLAYS AN IMPORTANT PART

Small's Fate May Hinge on Side Door Lock--Defense Claims it Old Fashioned

(Special to The Herald)
Ossinepe, Jan. 6.—John Roney, a telephone operator testified today for the defense of Frederick L. Small, that he had installed a new telephone equipment in the Small bungalow in 1914 and that he left the old wires in the building. This, the defense asserts, accounts for the wires in the ruins. He was followed by William A. Gould who testified in the many years he had known the Small he had never heard either speak crossly to each other.

The fight of the session centered about the lock, which was upon the side door of the Small cottage. The state charges this lock was a spring lock which fastened automatically and locked the house when Small left Sept. 28. The morning witnesses called to the state by the defense stated that this lock was an old fashioned ordinary door lock. It included testimony of the man who built the cottage, Frank Harriman. In indirect examination he said that the door was an inch and a half thick. He measured the door lock, the one found in the ruins just where the door stood and the distance between the sides of the lock was an inch and a half. He said that the lock resembled the one he had put on

U. S. DES MOINES TO BRING AMERICANS FROM FAR EAST

Washington, Jan. 5.—After a conference with officials of the state department, Congressman Tague of Boston today announced the completion of arrangements with United States Ambassador to Turkey, Abram L. Hicks for transportation on the U. S. S. Des Moines of all Americans who have been unable to obtain passage to the United States since the beginning of the European war.

The Des Moines is now at Alexandria, Egypt, awaiting the arrival of marooned Americans from Damascus, Jaffa and Jerusalem, who are being rounded up under the direction of United States Consul-General W. Stanley Hallis, stationed at Beirut, Syria. About 300 Americans now detained in that vicinity, including a number of Bostonians, will be returned to the United States on the Des Moines.

Congressman Tague directs all Bostonians who have American relatives in this vicinity to wire him particulars at Washington, and he will make arrangements at once with Secretary Lansing for their return.

London Reports Mechanical Difficulties Hold Back
Note.

(Special to The Herald)
London, Jan. 6.—Mechanical obstacles alone have delayed the transmission of the reply of the Entente powers to President Wilson's peace note. The reply is, however, expected to be here so that the text may be printed in the newspapers of Monday. Public interest on the subject of peace has reached a high pitch which preparation of the note has kept alive. There has been considerable interest in the dispatch from the Washington correspondent of the London Times, to the effect that President Wilson has not made up his mind what can be done to further the interest of peace.

dorse the President's offer to join a movement to guarantee world peace and his declaration of the interest of the United States in small nations. Progressive Republicans joined Senator Lodge and others in this contention.

The resolution adopted was proposed by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington and was accepted by Senator Hitchcock as a substitute for his own. It resolves:

"That the senate approves and strongly endorses the request of the President in the diplomatic notes of December 18th to the nations now engaged in war, that those nations states their terms upon which peace might be discussed."

The compromise ended debate when it appeared certain that action would be deferred until tomorrow, and soon after Senator Borah had begun a vigorous speech against the original resolution. There had been startling asserstions from both sides of the chamber during the day though none attracted such attention as that of Senator Lewis in closing the argument for the Hitchcock resolution.

"Let me say on my own authority," said Senator Lewis "that I agree with the sentiment expressed from any quarter, the secretary of state or anyone else (referring to Secretary Lansing's first explanation of the President's note to the powers) that this war cannot continue without America being involved in the conflict."

"Do you feel that the people of this nation are in such temper that they can ever again allow any commander of ships, any captain of an army, any officer of diplomacy to visit upon this country an injury to a citizen or property and escape on an excuse of misconception of orders or zeal of an officer?"

"If these conditions again are repeated America will not again accept that form of apology and will resent and punish to the full extent of her power. No amount of logic or pacification would prevail."

"If any continuance of the war means war with the United States, and this I have never a doubt of the comprehension of the U. S. and faith in the rugacious foresight of the officials of the administration, in the effort looking to bringing about peace with Europe that we may maintain peace in America."

Senator Borah attacking the Hitchcock resolution, said that in his judgment the United States by approving the President's note would bind itself in the future with European nations to protect the integrity and security of smaller European nations and that if this meant anything at all, it meant that the army and navy of this nation must be at the disposal of any world combination the war's end might see, to give this reception.

The Hitchcock resolution read as follows:

"That the senate approved and strongly endorses the action taken by the President in sending the diplomatic notes of December 18 to the nations now engaged in war suggesting and recommending that these nations state the terms upon which peace might be discussed."

Senator Borah suggested that the end desired by the Nebraska senator might be accomplished by other resolutions before the senate, which are not so broad in their approval.

"There is the resolution of the senate from Washington," said Senator Hitchcock, rising suddenly. "If that would be acceptable to the senator from Idaho, I will accept it."

Senator Borah said he would not object to the resolution and when the necessary parliamentary procedure had been complied with, voting began.

The first test was the defeat, 36 to 27 of a resolution introduced earlier in the day by Senator Gallagher, the Republican leader after a conference of Republicans. It would have the senate pass:

"That the senate of the U. S. in the interest of humanity and civilization expresses the sincere hope that just and permanent peace between the warring nations of Europe may be consummated at an early date, and approves all proper efforts to secure that end."

The galleries were well filled when the vote on the Jones substitute began. There was little excitement for when Progressive Republicans began to line up behind it, it became apparent it would carry by a good majority.

Senator Borah's speech which was abruptly ended by the agreement on the Jones substitute, was chiefly directed to warning the senate that the President's note in his opinion, stipulated a new foreign policy for the United States which would mean repudiation of the Monroe doctrine, and his belief that adoption of the Hitchcock resolution would commit the senate to that policy.

One Democrat, Senator Martine of New Jersey voted in the negative. The vote follows:

Ayes—Democrats: Bankhead, Bryan, Chamberlain, Chilton, Fletcher, Hardwick, Hitchcock, Hobbs, Hughes, Johnson, South Dakota; Kern, Kirby, Lane, Lee, Lewis, Martin, Newlands, Overman, Pittman, Pomerene, Randall, Reed, Robinson, Saulsbury, Shafroth, Sheppard, Shields, Georgia; Smith, South Carolina; Stone, Swanson, Thomas, Tillman, Underwood, Vardaman, Walsh—35.

Republicans—Borah, Clapp, Cummings, Curtis, Jones, Kenyon, Lippitt, Norris, Sterling and Townsend—10 Total ayes, 45.

Nays—Republicans: Brady, Brandegee, Clark, Gallagher, Harding, Lodge, McCumber, Nelson, Page, Poindexter, Sherman, Smoot, Wadsworth, Watson, Weeks and Works—16.

Democrats—Martine—1. Total nays, 17.

ONE KNOCKOUT AT BOUTS HELD LAST EVENING

STRIKER FROM FORT CONSTITUTION PUT MANCHESTER BOXER AWAY IN THE FIRST ROUND.

Kid Stinger of Fort Constitution put Young O'Neil of Manchester away in the first round of the opening bout at the Rockingham A. C. last evening. The Manchester boxer never having a chance against the fast soldier. The bout was the prelude and was the only one of the four to end other than a draw. A big crowd of fans were on deck.

In the main bout Joe Lawrence of the U. S. S. North Carolina went a ten round draw against Tommie Danforth of Philadelphia, the bout being fast and interesting. Both men worked hard but there was little difference in their class although the sailor kept the fast professional working all of the time.

In the six-round mill Young Lamas, the little Filipino Flash of the U. S. S. Duquesne went into a draw against Young Titus, also from the navy. In the semi-final Joe Master of the San Francisco boxed an eight-round draw against Jack London of the U. S. S. Baltimore. This was the big fight as there is bad blood between the two men. There was little choice or difference as far as the fans could see. Helms Cragen refereed all four bouts.

NOTES OF THE SPORTS

New York, Jan. 6.—"There is no metal so tough that it will withstand constant hammering. I found this to be true when I worked as an apprentice to a blacksmith. When I took to the ring I applied it to my fighting style. They call me 'Terrible Mollon Darcy,' and my style of fighting is the reason."

Here Mr. Fistic Kid is the secret of Les Darcy's success in the ring, and direct from his own lips. The system he applied to metals with his blacksmith's hammer he thought plenty good enough to apply to opponents in the squared circle and because he thought so he became middle and heavyweight champion of Australia within two short years.

The hammer, hammer, hammer, policy, tells you Darcy's style in a nutshell. When the bell rings, Lester starts after his opponent and he keeps his great strong arms in action without letting up until the round is over. Darcy's attack is mostly directed to the midriff of his opponent. He goes after the vitals and he mixes up this hammering with polts to the head and jaw at intervals.

Darcy says that he never "pulled" a punch in his life. He never lets one go until he is within range, and his manner of hitting seldom permits of his hitting the mark. An opponent may block Darcy's wallop, but the impact of the punch will rock him on his feet and you can take George Chip's word for it.

The Australian lad gives out a bit of advice to boxers. You may think from his manner of explaining how to fight that he is always the one who does all the fighting—that the other fellow never hits him. But we can enlighten you on this point by mention of the fact that Darcy will take a punch or two or three, to get in close and he says he never has been stung by any blow he has stepped in the ring. Here is what he has to say:

"A blacksmith is a plunger and by plugging he gets somewhere, just as anyone can do in any walk of life. I learned the plugging, hammering idea as a blacksmith, and I carried it rather to an out and out fighter than a fast, clever boxer."

"Keep hammering away, punch your opponent at every opportunity and you will wear him down. The result is sure. Drop a man with a punch to the jaw and he may get up before the count of ten. But send him down with a succession of hard punches to all of his vulnerable spots and he will stay there."

"Keep in condition all the time. Don't let yourself run down and think that by hard training you can get back to the point you held before. You are getting older every day and it can't be done."

"Good habits are essential. The boxer who wants to be a champion should never smoke, drink or chew. I do none of those things. I try to keep in a happy frame of mind too, for I find that it helps. To be a successful boxer a fellow doesn't have to carry a bloomin' grinch around, y'know."

An this is Darcy's recipe for the making of ring success. It sounds logical. It is logical. Any fighter who aspires to reach the top will not be unaided by heeding the words of the boy from Australia. And remember he came from a blacksmith's forge, and that when he was persuaded to start fighting he did not know the first principles of the game.

With two major league managers invading the American Association in as many years, the class of baseball in Tom Hickey's circuit during the coming summer should be remarkable and faster than it was in 1915. Roger Bresnahan who took the Toledo club last spring, will have had the chance to build up a winning team by the time the bell rings, and with Joe Tinker at Columbus trying to get a winner together, the league should be stronger.

Billy Clymer at Louisville; Jack Hendricks at Indianapolis; and John Gant at Kansas City, are representatives of the type of fighting managers. At Minneapolis Uncle Joe Cantillon, a veteran manager, and Mike Kelley at St. Paul and Danny Shay at Milwaukee are always dangerous leaders to a pennant race. With such an array of managerial talent the association should enjoy the best season of its career during 1917.

BOXING NEWS

There is something classy about the program that will be offered by the Armory A. A. at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday evening and there will be more thrills to the minute than champions or near champions could produce in an hour. It will be a real fighting bill between scrappers of proven worth. The headline attraction will bring together South Boston Eddie Murphy and Joe Connelly of Charleston who boxed twelve terrifically fast rounds to a dead heat recently.

While the referee declared the Connelly-Murphy bout a draw yet most of the fans were of the opinion that the South Boston boy had won by a block. It was Murphy's "come back" and sporting men are still discussing the amazing scrap that Eddie made in view of the fact that he was hog fat. He demonstrated that he is still a wonderfully clever boxer with a lightning-like left hand and great footwork. Last Tuesday he showed up at the Grand Opera House minus the flesh and in great shape. Eddie made a punching bag out of Terry Brooks. The crowd expected Eddie to "show" up but the South Boston boxer went the twelve rounds at top speed. He ought to be in great shape for the bout next Tuesday.

Murphy has got to show a lot better form for Connelly for the first time in his ring career has been systematically trained. In his last fight with Murphy he was in poor shape. He worked all that day driving a coal team and stepped into the ring tired. He has been off the "coal job" for two weeks and is reported to be in wonderful shape. With both boys in good physical trim it will be a wonderful battle and will bring out a crowd that will fill the Grand Opera House to capacity.

George Robinson and Joe Rivers will box in the ten round semi-final. They went the same distance last week to a draw. It was a sensational mill and there was little to choose between them at the finish.

Tommy Corley of Gloucester and Tommy O'Toole of South Boston will meet in the opening preliminary of six rounds while Buddy Dolan of Lawrence and Jimmy Gray of Chelsea will be the next pair.

SUNDAY WILL SPEAK AT DARTMOUTH Will Take Monday for Two Sermons to College Boys.

Hanover, Jan. 6.—With every detail arranged, undergraduates and towns people are awaiting the arrival of Billy Sunday in Hanover on Monday. Graduate Secretary W. M. Ross of the Dartmouth Christian association today announced that Sunday would speak before a public audience in the large hall of Alumni Gymnasium in the afternoon and before an audience made up only of men in the evening in Webster hall, to which only undergraduates, members of the faculty and the ministers of the town will be admitted. "Rody" Rodeheaver with his trombone is expected to be one of the celebrities of the party, which will include "Ma" Sunday, George Sunday, the evangelist's son, and possibly Robert Matthews, Billy's secretary, and others. The hours for the meetings, as given out today, are 2:30 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

In order to persuade Mr. Sunday Mr. Ross had to show him a petition signed by about a thousand undergraduates and a letter written by Governor McCall of Massachusetts, a Dartmouth man in the class of '74.

FATHER AND SON KILLED BY TRAIN

Rev. J. W. Williams and Son
Driving in Snow Storm
When Struck.

North Conway, Jan. 5.—In the midst of a driving snowstorm this afternoon a Boston & Maine train struck a sleigh in which were Rev. J. W. Williams, pastor of the Freewill Baptist church at Jackson, and his son, Philip, aged 10.

Mr. Williams was instantly killed. The boy's skull was fractured. He was taken to the Memorial hospital where he died three hours later.

The accident happened in the heart of this village. The train due at intervals at 2 o'clock had arrived, and was backing down to the engine house at North Conway preparatory to its return trip. Snow was falling densely, and in the smother Mr. Williams appeared not to see the train nor the flagman, who tried to warn him of his danger.

The train struck the sleigh squarely. The horse was instantly killed. The vehicle was reduced to kindling wood. Mr. Williams' death was instantaneous. The boy was hurled some distance by the force of the collision. He was picked up and removed as quickly as possible to the hospital.

Mr. Williams had driven over from Jackson earlier in the day and was on his way home when the accident happened. He was about 50 years of age, and had been pastor at Jackson for three years. He was a man held in high esteem by his fellow townsmen.

Before coming to Jackson he had a pastorate at Milton Mills, and before that in Providence and Philadelphia. Mr. Williams had a daughter and two sons. His wife has been on a visit to friends in Providence, R. I. News of the accident was sent to her this afternoon.

BARRY TO MANAGE THE RED SOX Has Accepted Offer of New President and Will Also Play at Second.

Boston, Jan. 5.—Harry H. Frazee, president of the Boston American League baseball club, announced tonight that John J. (Jack) Barry had accepted the management of the team. The contract will be drawn up tomorrow. Its duration has not been fixed but President Frazee said that he would let Barry "sign for any number of years within reason," and that he would be the sole manager with the privilege of choosing his own assistants. Barry, who was captain of the club last year, will continue to play second base. His salary as manager was not made public.

Plans for the spring training trip will be made at a conference between Mr. Frazee and Hugh J. Ward, the owners of the club, and Manager Barry tomorrow. The club will train at Fort Springs, Ark., and play a series of exhibition games before the opening of the league season.

The new leader of the Red Sox, who is 29 years of age, has been widely known as an infield member of world championship teams in both Boston and Philadelphia. It was to the American League club in the latter city that he went from Holy Cross college in 1908 to win a place in what later became the famous $100,000 infield of the Champion Athletics. When that machine was broken up in 1915, Barry, a leading shortstop, became second basemen with the Boston Americans, to whom he brought fresh strength for the struggle that gained them the world title of that year. He is believed to be the only major league player who has ever shared in the receipts of six world series.

Last season Barry was injured and could take no active part in the world's series games, but was a member of a board of strategy organized by Manager William F. Carrigan. Before announcing his acceptance of the management, Barry made it known that he desired to "continue to play the second base position and President Frazee granted the request."

MCCABE FACES COURT ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Manchester Man Pleaded Not Guilty to Charge of Assault With Intent to Kill--Victim Still in Hos- pital

Manchester, Jan. 5.—John H. McCabe of 310 North Main street was arraigned in police court this morning, charged with assault with intent to kill. Through his attorney, John O'Neill, he entered a plea of not guilty, and waived all preliminary examination. His case was continued until January 10.

Mrs. Leda Landry, the victim of the alleged assault, still lies in the Sacred Heart hospital mending slow recovery from the ghastly wound in her throat which was slashed almost from ear to ear.

The affair occurred Sunday afternoon at the Academy house on Lowell street. Both McCabe and J. Frank Whidden were involved and were arrested. But Whidden's story was so completely corroborated by various doctors of the place that he was released within forty-eight hours.

Mrs. Landry is reported to have named McCabe as the man who attacked her, and to have given jealousy as the cause.

According to Whidden both he and McCabe called on Mrs. Landry at her apartment that afternoon, Whidden arriving first. There was apparently nothing on the surface to indicate other than complete amicability between the visitors and their hostess.

At last Whidden declared his intention of taking Mrs. Landry for a sleighride and, going out, hired a team, which he hitched opposite the corner of Birch street. Returning to the room he heard McCabe say he was going home and offered to drive him to his destination.

Before doing this, however, he went to a nearby restaurant and ate a lunch. During his absence strife arose between Mrs. Landry and McCabe, for when Whidden returned for the second time McCabe and the woman were struggling in the middle of the room. Mrs. Landry garbed in her night gown, with blood pouring from a gruesome cut in her throat.

Whidden seized McCabe and dragged him into the hall. Mrs. Landry upon being released, falling backward on to the bed. The outcry prompted someone to summon the police, and when they arrived Whidden was still struggling with McCabe.

When examined at police headquarters McCabe declared that he had no recollection of any of the details of the alleged assault. One of the two knives found in Mrs. Landry's room, however, McCabe identified as his property.

CLEVELAND CONSIDERS HIRING CITY MANAGER

Cleveland, Jan. 5.—Fifteen prominent Clevelanders met here today and began deliberations looking toward a decision whether Cleveland shall replace its mayor with a city manager.

The committee is composed of three lawyers, two representatives of labor unions, two building contractors, an architect, two physicians, an advertising counselor, a professor, an amusement park owner, an engineer and a merchant.

It was appointed by Probate Judge Hadden, President Charles H. Howe, of Case School of Applied Science, and Thomas G. Fitzsimmons, former member of the City Charter Commission, at the request of fifty civic organizations.

If the committee reports in favor of the manager plan of municipal government, the matter then will be taken up by the civic organizations. A campaign will be launched for a special election in September to amend the city charter. Should the voters approve the amendment, the present system would be terminated January 1, 1918, and a non-partisan commission elected in the Fall of 1917 would take its place.

This commission would hire a city manager, similar to the one now in charge in Dayton, O., from among the city government experts of the country, who would take the place of mayor.

Supporters of the plan presented this argument:

"The people are the stockholders of a city—each citizen holding stock in equal amount with every other citizen. A commission elected in a non-political way by the people corresponds to the board of directors of a private corporation.

"The job of city manager, held so long as the holder makes good, corresponds to the job of general manager of a private business. The heads of subordinate departments are appointed by the city manager, and are responsible to him. Their positions correspond to those of the heads of departments of a private business.

"The commission, sitting as a board of directors, formulates the general policy of the city in all ordinary situations, and this policy is executed by the city manager. The policy formulated is supposed always to be in conformity with the will of a majority of the people—stockholders of the city, and the officials' bosses.

"Should the commission fail in this, there is at hand a simple remedy. For, by this plan, full control over measures and the men who enact them, or who are responsible for their execution, remains in the hands of the people.

"If the commissioners enact a law that is disagreeable to the people, a referendum may be held and the law killed by popular vote; if the commission refuses to pass a law that the people consider desirable, the people may pass the law themselves by the exercise of the initiative; if the commission or the city manager proves neglectful, dishonest or incompetent, either or both may be recalled by popular vote.

"Thus we should be away with the present plan of turning out a mayor and his department heads every two or four years—just as they had learned their jobs. It is these frequent changes attended by the politics that goes with these changes that is responsible for most of the inefficiency in the halls of many large cities.

"The city manager plan does not affect schools or municipal courts. Both of these bodies remain independent of the city government."

CHINESE SAY CLEVELAND TALK IS ALL SLANG

Cleveland, Jan. 5.—Maybe you have not tumbled but the guys and the dames in this burg have cashed in so heavily on the slang stuff that English as she is spoke is all shot. On the level!

Take a buzz in your boiler down to any of the swell eat joints and sit in on some of the gab stuff. You will get an earful believe us, and what you listen in on won't be the brand of talking you get from the dames in the education foundries.

The latest guy to get hep to this lingo is Anson T. Wong, who forges over the pond from China to get a line on the English as it is taught. He's rounding up gang of Chinese boys now to give them lessons in English at the Y. M. C. A.

"The people of the U. S. do not converse in English; they talk in slang," says Anson.

"To go along the street and hear an intelligent person say, 'For the love of Mike, Lucey, wherd you get that blanket? It's a regular brass band,' is very confusing to a stranger.

"I am almost tempted to teach my pupils along first and English afterward. Then they won't be 'up against it,' so to speak it, to get the drift of the average 'conversation.'"

CLAIM $92,000 WAS LOST BY GUILFOY AND SULLIVAN

Manchester, Jan. 5.—Nearly forty witnesses, including some of the most prominent citizens of Manchester, many of whom were clients of the firm of Guilfooy & Sullivan and claim to have lost considerable money through the acts of Joseph J. Guilfooy and James E. Sullivan, were summoned to appear before the grand jury at the superior court house building this morning at 10.30 o'clock.

Because of the fact that Aetna County Solicitor P. H. Sullivan, who was appointed by the court to handle the affairs of the state at this session of criminal court, was retained by James E. Sullivan shortly after his arrest, Deputy Attorney General Matthews of Concord came to Manchester to assume charge of the prosecution. The absence of Attorney General James P. Tuttle, who is conducting the case of state against Smith at Ogdensburg, made it necessary to secure the services of the deputy general for this case.

Not for many years has a grand jury been called to sit upon just such a case as that against Guilfooy & Sullivan. Many of the men who lost money are most prominent in the city. Although only four names appeared in the charges brought against the two young men, there are scores who claim to have been victims of these alleged acts of embezzlement. Nearly forty were summoned to court. Others came on their own volition.

During the morning session but a scant few were heard. The length of time consumed in the examination of the witnesses made it evident that two or three days would be needed to present the charges.

Discussions among the witnesses brought to light that about $92,000 had been lost by two score or more of the clients of the firm.

Yesterday there was no session of the grand jury. Instead the state took the time to round up witnesses and summons many more. This morning the jurors heard the first of the case against the two brokers. This afternoon the testimony was resumed and it is probable that it will be continued throughout Saturday in order that the indictments may be returned by Monday.

The length of time needed to present the charges against Guilfooy and Sullivan has impeded the progress of the criminal court somewhat. Ordinarily the trial of indictments are returned by Friday morning and the prisoners are released on the same day. Present indications are that the grand jury will not report before Monday.

The Inaugural of Governor Keyes.

Not in the recollection of the editor of this paper has the legislature ever listened to an abler address than Governor Henry W. Keyes made at his inauguration on Thursday. In the first place it was to the point, fearless and forcible, showing a keen insight of the state's needs. He touched on every subject in a concise, yet thorough manner and gave the members suggestions that will give them valuable assistance in making and framing the laws. Mr. Keyes proved to his hearers that he possessed ideas and could express them. His address was progressive in every way and if the men of the Legislature adopt his recommendations they will not go astray. Governor Keyes is anxious to help the people of the entire state and should receive the cordial support of all branches of the state government. He is in every way qualified for the duties he has assumed and the old Granite State will be in safe hands for these two years.

Well to Go Slow.

The mayor of an eastern city has recommended the introduction of military drill into the high school, not altogether as a preparation for war, but for the purpose of "setting up" the boys and teaching them obedience and respect for authority. He is of the opinion that one great good which came from sending the militia to the border was the lesson taught in discipline, and he contends that as a result of that teaching and experience the young men who served in the ranks will be more efficient in the shops, factories and offices where they are employed. There is not universal agreement with the mayor regarding this matter, but his recommendation is to be considered by the school board and the people of this city, and the state board of education is to be consulted.

There can be no question concerning the value of military training in "setting up" young men, as it is called, and acquainting them with the necessity of obedience and respect for authority where these are imperative. But whether this obedience and respect could not and should not be taught to boys before they reach high school or military age is a question that should be answered before military training is resorted to for ends which should be achieved in other ways.

Nothing is more certain than that training in these things is seriously defective at the present time. Too many boys are growing up without that regard for authority which is absolutely essential to good citizenship. This is a fault which it should be possible to correct without resort to military training, valuable as is such training in some ways.

It would be well for the country if more attention were to be given to one of the most serious shortcomings that have crept into our social life. It is natural for fond parents to humor their children when they are at the very age where training in decorum and obedience should begin, and this indulgence lays the foundation for unpleasant and undesirable conditions later on. It is difficult, if not impossible, for teachers to correct a condition due to neglect in the homes of their pupils.

Just now military propositions of all sorts have their special appeal, but the chances are that the country will do better to maintain the public schools for the work they were designed to do instead of converting them into quasi-military academies.

A servants' union has been organized in Duluth, Minn., and a scale of hours, wages and privileges has been adopted. This includes a nine-hour day with pay and a half for overtime, one day off in seven, good "feed" and plenty of it and sanitary sleeping quarters. Wages are $20 a month and upward, according to the size of the family. If this arrangement works out well the rest of the country will be certain to hear from it in the very near future.

A remarkable thing has happened in San Francisco. There is a union of federal employees there, and last week Congress voted to increase their pay 5 per cent. The members drawing $1,200 a year and upward have decided not to accept the increase, but to turn it over to the men receiving less than $3 a day. Here is generosity not often witnessed in this day and generation.

Many men who have been working for years on what they considered salaries find themselves outstripped by those who are supposed to be working for wages. Nothing but custom makes it improper to allude to the pay of carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and many other workers as salaries.

The aggregate increase in the indebtedness of Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany and Austria since the beginning of the war is said to be nearly fifty billion dollars. That is a good deal of money, but, in a certain sense, a great deal has been accomplished.

Wagner Tries a New Game

(From the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times)
Pittsburgh's faith in the judgment of John Henry Wagner has been confirmed. He has shown us he recognizes there is a greater game than baseball. That he has deferred taking it up until almost 43 merely means he wished to make a success of his business first, he felt it a man's duty to provide some thing for a rainy day and he able to maintain his wife in something approximating the manner to which she has been accustomed. No one will deny that Hans has done fairly well in his chosen line, and so far as the financing is concerned, Mrs. Wagner will be able to have a few little knickknacks after allowing her husband something for gasoline and hunting dogs.

It isn't customary to congratulate a bride. People who move in police circles tell us one should offer congratulations to the bridegroom and good wishes to the bride. But an exception may be made in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wagner. We do congratulate the lady. It is something to be the wife of the greatest baseball player, but Wagner is something more. He is a gentleman and, from the amount of tending he has done on his long trips with the Pirates, a scholar.

Hans was a shade off his game last season. He still thought faster than any other player in the National League and he still made the younger players look like rank amateurs; but he seemed lonesome. It was apparent in the stands he wasn't feeling right. At first we thought he missed Fred Clarke and was continually seeing the baseball ghosts of "Tommy" Leach, "Kitty" Bransfield, Claude Richey, Clarence Beams, "Deacon" Phillips and "Sam" Leever. That was all wrong; the old boy was in love. Now that he's happily married he's going to be himself again and once more these-base hits will ring off the left field wall.

Baseball reporters agree they never saw Wagner make an error of judgment. He knew what he was doing when he married. He will be a star in the greatest game in the world.

Robbing the Cradle

(From the Springfield Union)
Reports from Maine show that 1,750,000 young birchens first were shipped from the state this year to be used as Christmas trees. The first shipment of Christmas trees from Maine began about a dozen years ago and the number sent out was about 500. Maine is a large state and her forests are vast, but if the Christmas tree industry continues to grow or, indeed, keeps on at the present rate, it will not be many years before this wholesale destruction of the young trees and the extensive lumbering that is going on will exhaust her forest resources. It is well to begin to have an eye to the future.

Hope for the Armenians

(From the Missionary Herald)
News from Turkey is wanting at present. Called dispatches calling for more relief funds give assurance that relief work is allowed and that it can be more openly and systematically pursued. But letters are not forthcoming, and we wait to hear whether the massacres are stopped, as it was rumored from Constantinople was to the case, whether the missionaries are enjoying more liberty of action; whether it is possible yet to resume any of the interrupted lines of missionary work.

In this period of suspense and questioning there is welcome cheer in a message which Lord Bryce from his vantage point of observation in London sends to the Armenians in this country. He declares it to be his belief and that of the European friends of Armenia that these recent horrible massacres have marked the end of Turkish rule over the Armenians.

"Whatever may be in store for Armenians, there seems now every likelihood that somewhere between Trebizond and Van on the north, and Adana and Harbekir on the south, will the Turks be any longer permitted, after the close of this war, to bear rule and to have a chance of again oppressing or massacring the Christian population. I can therefore venture to bid the Armenians not only to exercise patience for the next few months, but to cherish hopes for a brighter future, in which they will enjoy that security and peace which will enable them to regain prosperity and to develop their national life in a manner worthy of their famous past."

Facts, Senator, Facts!

Riding in righteous wrath to arraign those guilty of insinuating that somebody in Congress has been indulging in the sin of speculation, and denouncing particularly those who make charges without producing facts to substantiate them, Senator William Joel Stone, of Missouri, said:

CURRENT OPINION

We Cannot Have a Great Civilization Until Child Labor Is Abolished.

The federal child labor law is as water tight as a law can be made, and it is practically impossible for a manufacturer or a canner to evade the law through the "thirty day joker." The fight isn't all over by any means. But a tool has been placed in our hands with which we can better fight the battle. The child labor bill will help about 150,000 children, but it will not bring relief to 1,850,000 boys and girls. The law does not touch them. Because of the early age at which children go to work the average boy and girl do not get more than a sixth grade education.

Our country bears the awkward hallmark of a sixth grade civilization. We cannot expect a great republic, we cannot expect great efficiency, great power, resourcefulness and justice, until every child is given an opportunity for a fair education and child labor is abolished in the states as well as in interstate commerce.—By Owen R. Lovejoy, Secretary of the National Child Labor Association.

Flood Conditions Add to Suffering in Germany.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The sudden rise of the Rhine has brought serious flood conditions in both Holland and Germany, according to dispatches from Amsterdam. In southern Limbourg many towns and villages have been flooded and in Saxony there has been great damage. A frontier dispatch says that thousands of tons of coal were sunk in barges in some of the rivers and that the town of Laucha, on the river Milde, is under water. The railroad between Cologne and Dierfhausen has been wiped out and fate of the population of the latter city is unknown.

LECTURES AT THE NORTH CHURCH, SUNDAY TO FRIDAY

Dr. R. L. Swain gives the first in a series of six lectures at the North Church on Sunday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. His subject is "The Honest Acheit." A minister in whose church Dr. Swain has recently given his People's Institute, writes as follows:

"Dr. Swain has given his course of lectures within a week to our people in Methuen, Mass., with the happiest results. I can hardly speak too highly whether of the spirit or quality of the addresses. The work which Dr. Swain is doing is highly specialized. It meets a new want in a new way. Nothing of the kind has, so far as I know, been done before as he is doing it, and the response of our people has been greater and more vital than any other speaker has received in my pastorate thirty-two years.

"Many who seldom or never go to church have heard every one of the lectures with unflinching attention. Each lecture has been followed by questions eagerly asked and, after the dismissal of the audiences, groups of persons would linger for personal conversation, sometimes half of those present, until the yawning season would remind us that he thought it was time to go home.

"Dr. Swain is a thinker whose system of thought is sane and clear. He is an enthusiastic believer in the need of commanding the intelligence in order to revive a drooping faith in church members and secure the interest of men on the outside of the church who are honest skeptics. "He is deeply spiritual, winning easily and at once the confidence of the people. He is masculine and lays a masculine hand upon the real problems of which as felt in a time like our own."

CONSTRUCTIVE PROSPERITY IN 1916.

When the Du Pont Company of Wilmington, Del., is mentioned many people think of explosives and war. Such is a wrong impression. True, they are the largest powder makers in the world, but the word explosives should not always be considered a destructive agency. Everybody knows explosives are used for war purposes, but they forget that they are also of great industrial benefit, being used for construction, mining, agricultural and sporting purposes.

The company is not only interested in explosives, it has put on the market numerous solvents and solutions necessary for the practical and economic manufacture of drugs, chemicals, fertilizers, adhesives, preservatives and many other such products. It is the largest manufacturer of leather substitutes in the world. Such leather is now being extensively used for automobile, furniture and railway car upholstery as well as bookbinding. During 1916 a large addition to the Newburgh, N.

Y. plant was started. The secretary of leather is working the plant night and day, and then it is not keeping up with the orders.

The Arlington Company, makers of "The Toilet Ware de Luxe," and Challenge collars, is also owned by the Du Pont Co. The Fairfield Rubber Co. of Fairfield, Conn., was purchased in 1916 and is being operated in conjunction with the Du Pont Fabrikoid Co.

All branches of the Du Pont Co. have had a great year. Its products have assisted in many great industrial undertakings and increased the farmer's wealth by helping him get more money out of Mother Earth.

One line of its business can be used as an example, that is trapshooting, "the sport of alluring." Records show that on November 1, 1916, there were 2605 trapshooting clubs. Nov. 1, 1916, shows 4719 active clubs, which indicates a splendid increase in that field. "The clubs are composed of active shooters is shown by the following: In 1913 the entries at registered tournaments numbered 17,902. In 1916 they numbered 21,791.

Such instances of growth in constructive measures could be mentioned, but enough is to say that a company which started with practicality in 1802 has by honesty, industry and ambition reached the top.

Belknap, commanding the mining fleet to rank of captain; Lieut. Commander Austin Kautz, formerly of this city, to the rank of commander. Mr. Kautz is at present attached to the U. S. S. Pittsburgh as executive officer. Lieut. Commander H. L. Wyman of the yard Industrial Department to the rank of commander; Lieut. Commander W. C. Asserson of the North Carolina to rank of commander.

Good Service Here

General Manager L. S. Adams of the Industrial Department is in receipt of a letter from Vice President Weather-bone of the Bath Iron Works in which the local navy yard is complimented on the quick and most efficient work performed in the docking and repairs of the torpedo boat destroyer Allen, recently sent to this station for emergency work. The Bath official concludes by saying it was the best service he has ever known since his association with the firm.

New Schedule Has Arrived

The new schedule of wages for yard laborers and mechanics which will go into effect on Tuesday next has arrived at the commandant's office. The Herald expects to publish the list in full on Monday.

Will Look Bare

The waterfront of the local yard will look quite bare after the fleet departure on Sunday and Monday, only the cruiser North Carolina and the collier Vulcan remaining.

Letters from the People

Mr. Editor:—

Are we living in a civilized community or one that delights in brutality? I should like to know by whose sanction men are allowed to stand up in a public hall in this city and administer knockout blows to their fellow beings? This exhibition of brutality is not allowed in other cities of the state and it seems a burning shame that our city should allow such proceedings to take place. A few years ago public sentiment caused the "red light" district of the city to be purified and it would seem as though the police commissioners or those in authority could do the community an equal if not better turn by stopping prize fighting in this city. If such features are to be encouraged in public it is not to be wondered that there will be bad blood between the men of the navy and army. Again, these so-called exhibitions do not have a tendency to improve the morals of the younger generation, who can usually be seen hanging about the entrance awaiting a chance to get in on the occasion of theseistic fights.

THRILLS IN THIRD EPISODE OF "PEARL OF THE ARMY"

Pearl White's reputation as Pathe's fearless, peerless girl is borne out by her actions in the third episode of the great, military-mystery serial "Pearl of the Army" now showing at the Colonial theatre. This episode entitled "The Silent Menace" will be presented Monday and Tuesday.

Failing to convince the General staff of the Army that she has discovered a clue of enough importance to slay the proceedings against Captain Ralph Payne for the theft of the Panama Canal Defense plans, Pearl Dare boards the Southwestern limited on which Payne is being taken to prison.

She hopes to gain information which will aid her in proving his innocence. Bertha Horn obeying a command of the Silent Menace travels on the same train. In wonderfully managed scenes, the train is wrecked and Payne is killed. This is but one of the many thrilling scenes of this episode.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS TO OPEN ON WEDNESDAY

The permanent headquarters of the local Democrats will be opened on Wednesday evening next in the building owned by the DuPont Bank on Pleasant street. They will occupy the third floor formerly rented by the Girls Club.

The rain did a good job in removing the snow.

PLANS FOR AN INTERSTATE HIGHWAY

Joint Resolutions Introduced in New Hampshire and Maine to Do Away With Toll Bridge.

The house joint resolution introduced by Representative Bartlett of this city as the first bill entered in the house at this session is concurrent with a similar resolution introduced by Representative Cole of Kittery by agreement with Col. Bartlett for the purpose of beginning on a broad and comprehensive scale, a plan to build a new inter-state joint state highway between the Portsmouth parade connecting with the New Hampshire state highway and the Maine state highway system. The plan contemplates either a new bridge for the use of teams and electric and pedestrian only, or a new bridge for the use of steam, and electric roads and all other means of travel. The Bartlett resolution appoints Governor Henry W. Keyes, Senator Jacob H. Gallinger and Hon. Calvin Page as a commission similarly appointed with the state of Maine with an appropriation of $2500 to pay the expense of a preliminary investigation. This committee is to make a joint report at the end of two years simultaneously to each state so that each state can act together and construct the bridge together and own it together. This committee is to decide the exact location of the bridge, the uses to which it will be put, the construction of the bridge, its cost, etc. If they report a joint use of the bridge by steam roads, electric roads and the public, they are to recommend the details of such use and relative expense of such use. They are to recommend how the cost of the bridge shall be financed by the states, or by all the interests involved. The final object to be arrived at by this joint commission of the two states is that the most feasible plan in all its details may be studied out and reduced to a definite proposition, so that at the next session of each legislature it can be accepted or adopted by both states. It is believed that this is the only feasible and possible way to construct this link of highway between two great states which is probably the most demanded of any link of highway in the entire United States. That this matter has not been taken up on large proportions before in view of the imperative demand for the same and in view of the way in which these two states have suffered on account of the same has been a matter of comment all over the United States. The future prosperity of our navy yard is so greatly connected with this movement that it cannot longer be overlooked. That the wage earners of Uncle Sam should pay tribute to private corporation every time they go to work, is a scandal on labor. That twenty thousand farmers and business people should be balked in their daily occupations by a toll gate in these progressive days, is inconceivable. That the great tourists business of New England should be checked and held up by this notorious evil is a menace that the states cannot longer permit. If there is any federal money for the aid of state roads either to New Hampshire or Maine it certainly ought to go to this link across the Piscataqua because not only the interests of the state but the interests of the federal government itself is gravely concerned. It is believed that not only Senator Jacob H. Gallinger but also his colleague Senator Hollis will aid in this great movement, it is not intended to have it partisan in any sense but the biggest men of both parties in both states have given assurance that they will put their shoulder to the wheel in earnest. The first thing to do is to get the Bartlett and Cole resolutions passed by each state and then to turn everybody into boaters.

Col. Bartlett says that he is as sure that the thing will be accomplished and the bridge built as he is of any thing in the world because the present conditions are absolutely impossible in the light of modern progress and only need the interest and study of big men who are in earnest to find a remedy.

It is pleasing to The Herald that its suggestion for an united effort to do away with the Kittery toll bridge, has already borne fruit and it is to be hoped that the barrier between the trade of York county and our city can soon be removed.

John W. Curley of Dover, for several years connected with the undertaking firm of John A. Glidden of that city has taken a similar position with Undertaker A. Thurston Parker of Portsmouth.

(Special to The Herald)
on Jan. 6—A prediction that the basis his prediction on the

In the war Germany imported near 15,000,000,000 tons of foodstuffs and meat. There is no doubt she is now importing some of the neutral countries, but it is doubted whether what was imported before the war.

WILL NOT SEND ANOTHER NOTE

President Wilson Denies the Rumor That He Will Forward Another Peace
Note.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The State Department, late today, authorized the statement that President Wilson was not contemplating sending another peace note.

Consulor Polk gave out the following statement:

"The report that the President is preparing to send a new note to the belligerent Powers is false and without any foundation. The President has no following the Cabinet meeting Second note in contemplation."

Lansing announced that President Wilson had authorized him to say that the American Government had no other note in contemplation, and that such information was being sent to all American diplomatic representatives abroad.

Mr. Lansing would not discuss the question further, but it was understood that the reason for the announcement was apprehension on the part of the Administration that reports that another note would be sent would affect the Entente reply to the President's first note, expected here in the near future.

LEWIS PREDICTS U. S. WILL GET INTO WAR

Senator Says This Country Cannot Long Continue Without Becoming Involved in European Conflict

Washington, Jan. 5.—The administration won its first victory to gain endorsement of the Hitchcock resolution approving the President's message to belligerents this afternoon when the Senate voted 41 to 27 to continue consideration of the note.

Washington, Jan. 5.—"I agree with Secretary Lansing or anybody else who says that the war cannot continue without America being involved in it," said Senator Lewis in the Senate this afternoon, while urging immediate passage of the Hitchcock note endorsing resolution.

Lewis thrust the war idea on the Senate with a startling suddenness.

America, he held, cannot proceed further in accepting "apologies" for injuries done by ship commanders—presumably referring to German submarine commanders. "Do not think we will ever again allow captains of ships, officers of armies or officers of diplomacy to deliver upon this country an injury and escape with the excuse that orders were misunderstood or that the officers acted in the excess of zeal," he said.

"The United States is the agent of morality in this step and the President is to be admired by the world for it. This country cannot accept apology hereafter and will punish to the extent of her power any such injury."

Potent Argument
"The nations abroad," he said, "will argue potently that the opponents of this resolution are influenced to continue the war that this nation of ours can continue to benefit with the riches of war."

"Or they will conclude that race prejudice has grown so strong in this nation, made up of all nationalities, that these able senators are unable to divorce themselves from race influences in order to support Wilson in his effort to end the war, to stop this preparation of the sub-resolution."

Senator Lewis got the floor. Answering charges by Senator Lodge that such a resolution as Hitchcock's was unprecedented in legislative annals, Lewis cited precedents to disprove the Lodge statement. President Lincoln's offer of good offices to Spain and Peru, Lewis showed, was approved by Congress.

The Jones amendment read: "Resolved, that the Senate approves and strongly indorses the request by the President in the diplomatic notes of Dec. 13 to the nations now engaged in war that the nations state the terms upon which peace might be discussed."

The Norris amendment reads: "Resolved, that the Senate approves and strongly indorses the action taken by the President in sending the diplomatic notes of Dec. 13 to the nations now engaged in war insofar that such notes recommend that the nations state the terms upon which peace might be discussed."

Senator Smoot, following the minority conference, stated that the only feature of the entire "note transaction" they could indorse was the expression of a desire by the President for peace.

The Norris and Jones amendments offered this morning indorse the "asking for peace terms."

Senator Works ended his long distance speech at 1:45 p. m. and then Senator Hitchcock's motion for further consideration of his resolution was unanimously up.

Virtually the whole Senate had disappeared during Work's talk, so a quorum was used to round up members.

A desire to avoid dumping the Monroe doctrine overboard seemed today to be the actuating motive behind the Senate fight.

An entirely new feature in the note endorsement fight was inserted today by administration Democrats who declared privately that some opponents of the Hitchcock resolution were merely "talking for time," in order to hold the Senate back on its already crowded program in the interests of an extra session.

Republican leaders hotly denied this intimation of a filibuster.

The spectre of a break or war with Germany over submarine warfare appeared to have been relegated to the background, though opponents of the resolution know that administration sources have declared the notes had that spirit behind them.

In a nutshell, the fight as it shaped up today was against American interference in the peace situation, lest this be misinterpreted and involve lasting displeasures and entangling alliances.

Opponents of the endorsement resolution believe that the suggestion of a world peace league or similar instrumentality means dictating the Monroe doctrine and plunging this nation into the involved mazes of European politics, intrigue and perhaps even war.

At this session a committee was appointed to draw up a sub-resolution and report to minority leaders not later than 3 o'clock this afternoon.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

POPULAR GOVERNMENT LEAGUE URGES NEW VOTE LAWS

Washington, Jan. 5.—Earnest advocacy of a Corrupt Practices act "with teeth" and promise of a strong fight to force its passage through Congress, if necessary, was voiced today at the third annual conference of the National Popular Government League. The conference of the league began today and will continue through tomorrow evening.

The announced outline of the conference was not as "an academic discussion," but "a council of war." Attention was drawn to the fact that the accomplishments of the league already have "forced the reactionaries of the nation to come out in the open and form two national associations to oppose the ideas the league is promoting."

Representatives from nearly every State in the Union were present. Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, president of the league, was in the chair. He also spoke on "Trying Elections and What Congress Can Do to Stop It." He discussed the Corrupt Practices bill, of which he is the author, and pointed out the great necessity of enacting it into law as early as possible, in accordance with the recommendation of President Wilson.

A number of speakers cited instances of alleged corrupt practices in the recent election, including the use of money and coercion. Rosa F. Lockridge, secretary of the Citizens' League of Indiana; Richard Long, of Framingham, Mass.; Benjamin C. Marsh, of New York City, and a number of others cited concrete instances of corrupt practices in the last election.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and Judge A. Z. Blair, of Portsmouth, Ohio, took part in the discussion. Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, at tonight's session, will point out the need of enacting penalties attached for its violation.

Tomorrow's sessions will be devoted to a general discussion of "notable winnings during 1916." The speakers to be heard will include Representative Dill, of Washington; Ray McKain, master of the North Dakota State Grange; Mrs. William Kent, wife of the California Congressman; Professor Lewis Jerome Johnson, of Harvard University, and a number of others.

At the windup session tomorrow night the general subject will be "Dangers from an Inflexible Federal Constitution." Justice R. M. Wainwright, of the Ohio Supreme Court, will urge the great need of what he called "a gateway amendment" to make the constitution more flexible.

MORE VESSELS PURCHASED FOR HAYTIAN FLEET

NAVY DEPARTMENT SECURES
TWO ADDITIONAL SCHOONERS
TO APPLY TO COAST GUARD SERVICE.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Two more schooners have been purchased by the United States Navy Department for the Haytian coast guard service, the Adrienne, built by the George E. Lawley Corporation at South Boston in 1883, and the coasting schooner J. Ed. with Kiraun. The latter is at the Baker Yacht Basin, Quincy, where she will be equipped with a 100-horsepower Kerosene and gasoline, heavy duty engine, and otherwise prepared for the service. She was sold to the Government by Fred Borden, superintendent of the basin, who purchased her from Walter E. Gale of Brookline. This vessel is 145 feet overall and of 135 tons gross register. She was built about twelve years ago at Baltimore.

The Adrienne, a former pleasure craft, is at Jacob's yard, City Island, N. Y. She is 87 feet overall, 66 feet on the waterline and has 18 feet beam. She was designed by Lawley and was owned for a number of years by D. S. Robbs of Amherst, N. S.

Work of fitting out the schooner yacht Marlette, the first American boat selected for the Haytian service, has been practically completed at the Baker basin, and she will go to the navy yard at Charlestown shortly, preparatory to going south. This vessel was for a number of years the flagship of Jacob E. Brown, when he was vice commander of the Boston Yacht Club.

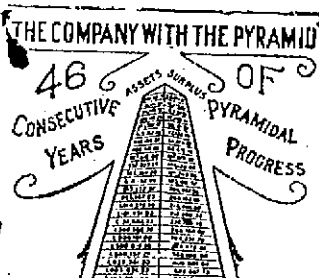

It is the intention of the Navy Department to reorganize the coast guard service of Hayti and it has assigned a warrant officer, Edward O. Norcott, to command this fleet of schooners. These boats will be used to transporting

COUNTY Y. M. C. A. PLAN BUSY WINTER

An Outing at Rye Planned for N. H. College Members.

Exeter, Jan. 5.—Secretary Lawrence B. Hawes of the Rockingham County Y. M. C. A. is planning on a busy winter for the organizations throughout this section of the county. A deputization team from the State College at Durham, made up of members of the Y. M. C. A. will spend the week-end of Jan. 12, 13 and 14 in Rye, where, on Friday evening, the members will hold an entertainment and on Saturday the students and boys of the town will go for a "hike," and camp-fires.

In the evening a general meeting will be held, the students furnishing the speakers, and the musical program. On Sunday the pulpit will be filled also by members of the team. There will be a special meeting for the boys and men in the afternoon, and a union meeting in the evening. A trip similar to this is being planned to East Kingston for some time in February.

The plans for the Father and Son banquet in Newton are almost complete, when the supper will be furnished by the Camp Fire Girls and special music will be furnished by a quartet from Haverhill, Mass. The central thought of the evening will be "What Will It Profit a Community if It Gain the Whole World and Lose Its Own Boys?"

Father and Son banquets are also being planned in Raymond and Newmarket. Last evening the Boy Scouts at Newmarket held a stereopticon lecture in the Public Library building, showing the activity of the Boy Scouts in all parts of the country, and next week a social is to be held at the home of the scout master, Rev. William Ramsden.

The Sanborn Seminary Y. M. C. A. at Kingston will give a social to all the students and friends on Jan. 10 in the Seminary hall. The committee which is now planning the arrangements includes Harold Snyder, Phillip Wason, Norman Smith and Henry West.

North Hampton Scouts will hold an indoor track meet on Jan. 12. Rye Scouts will give a play in the near future and the Danville Y. M. C. A. will give a social on Jan. 12.

BARS WINE AT CHRISTENINGS

Portland, Me., Jan. 5.—Judge Bates has put the ban on the use of wine and other strong drink at christenings and has issued a warning from the bench that a christening is no extension of the prohibitory law's violation.

The bid is on tighter than before for more than two years. Arrests for drunkenness are almost a rarity under the new regime.

USELESS TO PUBLISH THE PEACE TERMS

GERMAN PRESS BELIEVES
FRANCE AND BRITAIN ARE NOT WILLING TO LISTEN TO TERMS AT THIS TIME.

London, Jan. 5.—Publication of German peace conditions would be useless in view of the attitude of the British and French press, according to the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, as quoted in an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuters. The Anzeiger bases its opinion on the resolution in the French senate that France could make no peace with an enemy who occupied French territory. "Publication of our conditions," says this paper, "would now be undignified, and, moreover, would not be of the least use. The evacuation of French territory is made a preliminary condition for peace negotiations. Though this condition is not contained in the entire note, it still exists and therefore it is the French senate and the French government who render impossible the publication of our peace conditions."

"We must show to the door any neutral who should dare to demand from us that we should regard as an invitation the words of the reply. As a suggestion without conditions for opening negotiations, 'is no peace offer.' We must refer such a neutral to the resolution of the French senate."

BONDSMEN PAY IS ONLY $1550
Fekler Defaulted in Sum of $76,000

Newburyport, Jan. 5.—A settlement has been made with the bondsmen of James V. Fekler who defaulted in 1906 in the sum of $39,900, while city treasurer. The matter has been pending ever since that time and there have been several overtures made by the past city governments to clear the matter up.

All that appears on the city treasurer's books as having been paid in settlement is $1550, three of the bondsmen paying $500 each and one estate paying $50. Others have been deemed too poor to pay and in other cases there was some question as to the liability on technical grounds. Still others were deceased, leaving no assets to pay any liability.

In all there were 16 bondsmen on different bonds which represented $80,000 and which the court held were liable for all the years in which the defaultation was shown.

WHISKEY COMES HIGH IN RUSSIA

Walter Austin, a Boston attorney returned from a trip to Petrograd, says the Russian people are enthusiastic for fighting the war through, believing they are fighting in a just and holy cause. Idea that Russia is exhausted, he declares erroneous. The food prices are high but Russia hasn't really begun to fight. The Duma speaks its mind freely in criticism of the government and of the pro-German element, and drove Premier Strimmer out of office because of his attitude. Censor does not allow publication of the debates but the people learn what has been said and done. Russia is about wholly "dry" a bottle of whiskey or champagne costing $35, while a bottle of vodka costs $20. Prohibition has worked a wonderful social change for the better, and it is predicted that Russia will never go back to the old system.

GERMANY ASKS U. S. TO RECALL RUMAN ENVOY

Washington, Jan. 5.—Germany has requested the United States government to remove Minister Vopicka from Bucharest. The request will probably be granted.

The department refused to say on what Germany based her requests, though press messages indicated that Germany was displeased at Vopicka's work in behalf of allied interests before the Rumanian captured Bucharest.

Vopicka, a wealthy Chicagoan, was accredited to Roumania, Serbia and Bulgaria.

Sunday, "The Honest Atheist." Monday, "How Science Saved Religion." Tuesday, "Does Man Have a Soul?" Wednesday, "Does God Have a Body?" Thursday, "Losing the Bible to Find It." Friday, "Losing the Sense of Immortality."

I can hardly speak too highly of Dr. Swain. He is a great big man. He gave us a great week in Plymouth. He gave us addresses, with an audience that improved in number and quality, and with ever deepening intellectual and spiritual interest. He has the evangelistic spirit with the temper of the self-satisfied philosopher. He has a message for those who have lost faith. I shall write a score of colleges telling them that this man has a message for this generation.—Rev. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLS, D.D., Plymouth Church, Brooklyn.

PORTSMOUTH RIFLE CLUB OPENS RANGE

And Elects Officers for the Present Year.

The Portsmouth Rifle Club held its regular Friday evening meeting last evening in Christ church. After the election of officers the range was officially opened, and shooting was continued until about 10.30 p. m. A number of "bull" series were made in the hundred or so shots that were fired during the evening. Shooting will now be carried on in earnest and three evenings a week have been set aside for practice. At 7 p. m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays the target range will be open to members, and at 7.30 p. m. on Fridays. Every member is urged to be present at least one of these meetings during the week.

At the election of officers for the year 1917 the following were elected: President, N. A. Schanscheff; vice-president, A. J. Weston; secretary, Elvin B. Newton; asst. secretary, Ralph Weston; treasurer, Henry C. Laflamme; executive officer C. P. Wyant.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the Democrats of the city council were behind closed doors on Friday night.

That there is quite a contest for city auditor as well as health inspector.

That a Boston family refused to pay $153 rent because mice were scampering through the building.

That the owner of the building in the Brighton district brought suit for the same.

That the court allowed the amount regardless of the flocking of the rodents.

That a man from Cambridge brought another queer suit for $2000.

That he claims that he was injured while eating sausage and the suit is against the Squire Provision Co.

That he also claims the sausage contained a "certain piece of steel or needle" and by reason of said "steel or needle" entering his mouth he suffered "pain of an exceptionally acute and severe nature."

That the case of Sheriff Spinnery against the town of Seabrook is still on the superior court docket.

That the town still owes the sheriff $150 for the board of Randall, a tax dodger.

That Randall was released barely two years ago by order of the court after passing several months in jail here where the tax collector placed him.

That the town refuses to pay for Randall's eats and lodging and the sheriff says he is not going to furnish the mazuma for the man's keep.

That Emmet Flanagan has opened up for the position of city messenger.

That he won't have much opposition for the place.

That Bill Kennedy, whose friends want to place him somewhere in city hall is exceedingly modest in his campaign.

That although he is a strong party man he believes that men more active than he should come first.

That his friends say he is too modest in regard to his politics.

That if he consents to go in for city auditor they will force him to exclude the modesty end of it.

That something should be done to protect the public from the regular snow slides from the roof on Daniel street over the rear of Grace's drug store.

That there is also more danger from the condition of the sidewalk after the snow lands from the roof.

That this dangerous condition has existed for years and the public are obliged to take to the highway to avoid the danger.

That the building is owned in Dover and the authorities should see that the owners eliminate the danger at once.

That out of town parties are much interested in locating a tobacco store on Congress street, also a lunch room.

That no man will ever put on weight dodging a boss and killing time.

That many men could live well on that forty cent diet if they did not think of the ten cent cigar.

That an accident policy is no use to a man when he falls in love.

That ex-Mayor Fogg of Newburyport who just retired from office attended 171 social functions during last year—some record.

That his friends say he is too modest to be able to accept.

On Tuesday evening next the new officers of Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias will be installed by D. D. G. C. Walter L. Eastman.

Representative Edward S. Downs is being congratulated on all sides over his appointment on the fish and game committee. He will prove a valuable member.

The next session of the night school will be held at the high school on Tuesday evening next and it is expected that there will be quite an increase in the number of pupils.

At the Exeter court house Monday afternoon, Jan. 15, the members of the Rockingham Bar Association will hold public exercises in memory of its late president, Hon. Edwin G. Eastman.

The school teachers of Nashua have asked for an increase of salary. Portsmouth teachers have already done so and the matter is now in the hands of the finance committee of the board of instruction.

The heavy rain of Friday caught the street department unawares and for a time the cross-walks in the business section were in bad shape until the men were sent to clear away the gutters.

There seems to be a tendency on the part of some of our residents to refuse to have the snow removed from in front of their residences and places of business. If these parties heard the comment of the general public, they would probably clean their sidewalks.

When local telephone users received their January bills they found in the envelope along with the bill a neatly printed card signed by Manager E. H. Drew extending his greetings and cordial wishes for a Happy New Year. The card went on to say in addition: "I want to assure you of my constant interest in your service and to ask a continuance of your co-operation and good will."

Portland under the new dry order has been a quiet town, with no arrest made for two days for drunkenness, and one night this week the cell room at the station was empty.

The local coal supply is still short of what the dealers would like to have it, and the rule of allowing but a ton at a time still holds out. The freight rate on coal is the highest for years, a local dealer paying $2.68 a ton from New York by barge. The sea route is even worse than the land coal.

A. O. H. NOTICE.

The general committee on lecture and tickets will report at U. V. U. hall tomorrow, Sunday afternoon at 1.30.

J. J. CROWLEY, Chairman.

DEATH OF AN AGED CITIZEN

Samuel H. Kingsbury Was a Well Known Carpenter and Musician.

Samuel Henry Kingsbury, one of Portsmouth's best known citizens died at his home on State street on Saturday noon. He was born November 17, 1833, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kingsbury and had made his home in this city his entire life time. He learned the ship carpenter's trade with his father and worked on many of the ships built on the Piscataqua river and at the navy yard. While an apprentice he worked with his father on the framing of the North church steeple. He was for many years a member of the old Portsmouth corner band and for a time held the position of business manager of the organization. When a young man he became connected with the fire department being attached to the Caribbi hook and ladder company, at one time being foreman of the company. In politics he was a staunch Republican but never held office outside of being ward clerk. Mr. Kingsbury was a good citizen and was well liked by those with whom he associated. He is survived by four sons, Charles M., Samuel L., John G., and Hector M. Kingsbury and two daughters Mrs. Jesse H. Wilson and Miss Mae Kingsbury.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES

In spite of the severe weather yesterday, the attendance was very large at this popular theatre, and had it not stormed, probably a record-breaking crowd would have been the rule.

"Somewhere in France," which was the principal and long awaited attraction, was well received and hundreds of compliments were heard.

The picture is all that it was advertised, and perhaps more.

Louise Glaum, in her difficult role of the German spy woman, was fascinating, and her role as a vampire was different from any other we have seen, in that her sacrifices were made for a purpose.

This great picture will be shown tonight for the last time. Come early. The first performance starts at 6.30, the second at 8.30.

The Paramount picture for Monday and Tuesday is very unusual. It features George Rehan, star of "The Alien" and "The Sign of the Cross." The picture is "Pasquale."

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are to be seen at this theatre soon in "The Great Secret."

MRS. COWLES WILL HAVE SPECIAL STORY

Mrs. Florence Cowles of this city and Brookline, now a special writer for a Boston newspaper, has been in Concord for two or three days where she was in conference with Mrs. Ralph Carpenter relative to a special story concerning the famous Carpenter case so long in the courts and before the public.
